Amsterdam, May 20, 2021, CryptoRefills launches Avalanche blockchain payment option, to enable a new fast and lower fee payment experience for users buying gift cards with cryptocurrency.

CryptoRefills, a shopping platform that allows people to shop for everyday needs with bitcoin and other cryptocurrency, has integrated Avalanche, an open-source platform for decentralized finance applications prioritizing scalability, simplicity, and instant transaction finality.

Due to high demand and network congestion, some of the most popular blockchain networks have seen increasingly high transaction fees, making the use of cryptocurrencies for shopping for everyday needs more expensive for users. With the Avalanche payment option, users will be able to make purchases on CryptoRefills with the top ERC20 compatible stablecoins, with immediate confirmation and close to zero transaction costs. Furthermore, with a rapidly growing DeFi ecosystem on Avalanche, its community can now use CryptoRefills to bridge the Avalanche DeFi domain with real world goods and services.

Massimiliano Silenzi, CEO of CryptoRefills commented: "One of our goals for 2021 is to bring to our users the newest and most innovative payment options that can improve transaction speed and reduce fees. We are excited to offer Avalanche, one of the most promising blockchain platforms, that will provide a streamlined payment experience for our users."
